Comments on the dataset

The examples are divided into two sections: those coming from lexicographical sources and monographs, including recollections from written corpora (Bustos 1986; Moyna 2011; Buenafuentes 2018) and neologisms (e.g. extracted from Banco de neologismos (https://cvc.cervantes.es/lengua/banco_neologismos/) and Herrero Ingelmo 2011), as well as unregistered words from the Internet, social networks, and spontaneous oral innovations heard by the authors.

Coding:

- When the nominal compound may appear in the singular and/or in the plural form, this is marked with a final '(s)'. E.g. reposacabeza(s).
- When a nominal compound is semantically intransparent, even to native Spanish speakers, a brief definition is provided. E.g. aguzanieves (type of bird).
- When a compound is polysemic, we provide its most prototypical meanings. E.g. catarribera (1. real state layer; 2. old mayor; 3. servant riding a horse to catch falcons after they got their prey)
- The large majority of compounds in this dataset are from Peninsular Spanish. In compounds from other dialects of Spanish the specific dialect is specified. E.g. chupamedias (Arg., Chile, Hond., R. Dom., Ur. and Ven., smooth-tongued)

- The large majority of compounds in this dataset are from standard Spanish. In compounds from specific sociolectal Spanish varieties or professional jargon the type of variety is specified. E.g. saltacharquillos (rural varieties).
- Entries from bibliographic sources are listed together with information on the original source. E.g. robaplanos (Sanmartín 2017)
- Diversions from the unmarked form of the VN pattern (Verb stem + 3rd person singular present + Noun, understood as Direct Object of the verb) are indicated. E.g. lloraduelos (moaner; the verb 'llorar' [cry], which is prototypically an intransitive verb, is used transitively; mandamás (boss, 'más' is not a noun, as in prototypical VN compounds, but an adverb)
- Synonyms and modifier usages are provided. E.g. cortapatatas (synonym: 'pelapatatas'); matamoscas; lámpara matamoscas
